Subject: Recommendation for Jago Alcock

To whom it may concern

I am writing to highly recommend Jago Alcock for any future endeavors he may pursue. Jago recently completed a Product Design Internship within our business, GYRO, and I am thrilled to provide my utmost endorsement for his exceptional skills, work ethic, and character.

Jago displayed an excellent work ethic from the beginning of his time with us. Taking the time to work in the operational department for the first few weeks allowed him to gain an understanding of how our manufacturing process works and the design implications for anything he might be working on going forward. I was extremely impressed with how Jago integrated himself into any team he was working alongside. He was candid, positive, communicative and had a healthy understanding and appreciation for workplace culture and his place within it.

Throughout his internship, Jago consistently demonstrated a remarkable level of both emotional and intellectual intelligence. His ability to think outside the box and resolve mechanical and design challenges with commercial solutions contributed to the launch of a new product range for our business which we will be taking to both domestic and international markets. In addition, Jago also displays sound commercial judgement and an inquiring attitude which he displayed on querying a project he was tasked to work on when he thought it might not be a sound fit for the company and the product range.

His enthusiasm for supporting other team members in their projects was sincerely appreciated and allowed another of our colleagues to explore a lifelong passion and subsequently launch another brand for our business in the education sector.

Throughout his time at GYRO, Jago consistently displayed maturity, professionalism, and a strong work ethic. His commitment to completing assigned projects, ability to prioritize tasks and complete work with accuracy and urgency quickly made Jago a “go-to” team member. Beyond his technical skills, Jago is an exceptional team player and a pleasure to work alongside. Jago is an excellent communicator who actively listens to others' ideas and collaborates effectively to achieve shared goals. We would warmly extend a personal invitation to Jago at any point in the future, and wholeheartedly recommend Jago without reservation.
